BAPTISMAL FONT OF NEW CHURCH IS DEDICATED

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WAILUKU, Sept. 15.—Last Sunday marked the second of the series of special services for the dedication of the new Henry Perrine Baldwin Memorial Church. The Sunday before the edifice and organ were dedicated, while this Sunday just past the hand-some baptismal font was dedicated.

The font, which was built in perfect harmony with the woodwork of the remainder of the church interior, was the gift of the life-long friends of Mr. Baldwin among the Japanese and Hawaiian people. Generous gifts were received to make this memorial possible.

The addresses were largely in Hawaiian and were delivered by William Hyde Rice of Kauai, Rev. D. W. K. White of Lahaina, Rev. John P. Erdman for the Hawaiian Board. The sermon was preached by Rev. Stephen L. Desha of the Hall church, Hilo.

Rev. J. Fukuda of the Pala Japanese church spoke well in English, reading his address, which had been carefully prepared. The closing speech of the day was that of Rev. Frank S. Scudder of the Hawaiian Board. All the speakers dwelt upon the significance of the baptismal font, and gave remarkable tribute to the loving character and unselfishness of the late Henry P. Baldwin.

The inscription on the font reads: "In loving memory of Henry Perrine Baldwin, presented by his old-time Hawaiian and Japanese friends."

Rev. A. Craig Bowdish, who offered the opening prayer, arranged in most pleasing manner the whole program for the day. Three large choirs of Hawaiian singers greatly added to the beauty of the service. J. H. Ka-u-ua led the Pala chorus, Rev. D. W. K. White the Lahaina people, while the famous Molokai choir that had taken the banners was led by David Kalaau, who himself has a remarkable voice and is a splendid leader. The augmented choir of the church sang an anthem very beautifully.

Rev. Mr. Bowdish who had himself written the dedication service led in this response, and the congregation standing took an interested part.

The offering for the day was devoted to the Hawaiian Board and was over $200.

POLICE COURT NOTES

Keawe Kamakea, aged 12, of Kalihi, hit his head against a rock yesterday and was sent to the Emergency hospital, where a stitch was taken in the wound.

Motorcycle Officers Ferry, Branco and Stuppelbeen were called to the residence of Marmon Magoon, Kala-lau, early yesterday morning, because there were burglars prowling about the place. Mrs. Magoon saw the intruders and waved a gun at them. They disappeared and the police were unable to find any trace of them.

Five gay young women were hauled in by the police Saturday night, together with a quantity of booze. The wine and women were corralled in a Nuuanu valley house, near Laimi road. Those booked for investigation were: Annie Parker, Annie Perry, Annie White, Rose Aldridge and Thelma Williams. The police claim a heavy carousal was going on when the place was pulled.

BEACH'S STORY TOLD AT BIJOU

"The Ne'er Do Well," the latest successful story by that famous author, Rex Beach, to be adapted to the pictures, comes to the Bijou theater tomorrow evening with Kathlyn Williams, Wheeler Oakman and the original cast of "The Spoilers." Beach's former film-story success. This is one of those "special" features that come to Honolulu none too often. It is in 10 reels and every reel is heralded as a masterpiece.

Rex Beach's style of fiction is too well-known to necessitate any lengthy comment as to the strength of the story or the action of the plot. The foundation of the play is laid in Panama, around the great waterway which connects the Atlantic and Pacific. The story is heralded as "a successor to 'The Spoilers.'" The hero of the play is a former college man, all round athlete, etc. After a "night out," he awakens on ship-board, sans coin sans baggage. Here his adventures commence.

There are some stirring mix-ups when Kirk Anthony reaches Panama. There is a girl in Panama who becomes a feature of the story. There is also another woman, met on ship-board, who feels a consuming jealousy of the Panama girl. And then there is the father of the hero, a wealthy railroad man with big interests in the Canal zone country. This feature should draw large crowds to the Bijou for the balance of the week.

HAWAII SHOWS COMEDY DRAMA

Triangle-Fine Arts photodramatic productions are rapidly taking their place among the best that is being shown in Honolulu and this city boasts the best that is produced. "The Marriage of Molly O," the current Hawaii theater feature, is in this class. It is a comedy-drama of deep heart interest, well photographed, carefully directed and ably acted.

The featured stars are Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, both of whom appeared as co-stars at the Hawaii a short time ago in "A Child of the Paris Streets," a gripping story of the underworld of the French capital. Miss Marsh made her original successful screen appearance in "The Birth of a Nation."

"The Marriage of Molly O" is a delightful story of an Irish-English romance. The absentee landlord system so prevalent in Ireland is used as the introductory basis of the story. The young lord, and landlord, undertakes a trip of inspection of his holdings incognito. He meets Molly O and decides she would be more worth-while than all his vast estates. With this idea in view he sets out to win the daughter of one of his tenants. It is superfluous to say that he wins.

COST OF HATRED IS FILM SUBJECT

"The Cost of Hatred," by Beulah Marie Dix, is the feature film at the Liberty theater for the first half of the week. It is a Lasky offering featuring Kathlyn Williams and Theodore Roberts, a pair of prime favorites at the Liberty with followers of Paramount pictures. The supporting cast includes the best from the Lasky studios, several of whom have been featured in stellar roles.

Miss Williams enjoys rather a distinction during the current week as she will appear simultaneously on two screens, being also the featured star

CHILD IS BRUTALLY ATTACKED BY PARENT

With her cheeks cut and bleeding and her face bruised and swollen, a 5-year-old Filipino girl called at the emergency hospital Saturday afternoon for treatment. Her name was Florentina Tavano, and her mother, who brought the child to the station, told the story of how a brutal stepfather had maltreated the little girl.

Rafael Venus is the name of the stepfather. He came home drunk Saturday afternoon, it is alleged, and wanted some outlet for his drunken rage. Little Florentina was the first person he saw and, loosening his belt, struck the child across the face with the brass buckle. The child's screams attracted her brother and mother, who rescued her. After the child's wounds had been treated and dressed, she returned home. No complaint was lodged against the stepfather.

A MISTAKE

SHOOTING ENDS WORDY ARGUMENT

Shot through the stomach following a heated argument, said to have concerned a woman, Mantaleo Wham, a Filipino, aged 20, is in Queen's hospital. His condition, while still serious, is improving.

The shooting occurred late yesterday afternoon at Puuloa. The injured man was talking with a countryman when the discussion turned to a fierce argument. Witnesses are hazy as to what followed, but Wham's companion pulled a gun and shot him through the stomach.

Deputy Sheriff John Fernandez spent last night investigating around the camps at Puuloa, but up until the hour of going to press no new developments have been reported. A Filipino named Corallo Sobera o, however, was hauled into headquarters last night and booked for investigation.
